DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 2-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Newly added claim 17 now recites that "two rotary sliding elements respectively cantilevered to extend out from an outer side of said lateral flank so as to support said point in said inactive position". There is no prior mention in previous claims or in the specification of the sliding elements being cantilevered in the device.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-6 and 10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Humphrey et al (US 5,501,418).

Humphrey et al discloses a sliding device for railway switches comprised of a fixed rail 200 and a movable point rail 204. The point rail 204 is movable between and active position close to the stock rail and an inactive position where it is spaced from the stock rail and does not redirect a vehicle. The device is further comprised of a support structure, generally shown in figure 1 with the stock and point rails removed. Figure 1 shows a general support structure having a mounting bar 56 for attaching the structure to adjacent railroad ties, as shown in figure 6. A pair of upright flanks 14, 16 extend outward from the support bar and serve as mounting points for rail clip 44. The rail clip 44 firmly connects the structure to the stock rail. The clip is adjustable and movable by loosening or tightening the bolts mounted on either side of the clip as well as the bolt on the clip. A plurality of rollers 108a, b, c are mounted in the support structure and support the point rail as it moves towards away from the stock rail during switching operations. The rollers are mounted on two interior walls or flanks, shown in cross section with dashed line in figure 2 and from above in figure 3. A bolt is passed through the flanks and the outer support structure. The flanks are adjustable by removing the securing bolt 104, 106 and moving the flanks relative to the support structure.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 7-9 and 13-16 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 1st paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed July 9, 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that the prior art of Humphrey does not disclose the features of the point assembly being cantilevered. Humphrey depicts the switch point assembly anchored between railroad ties and extending outward unanchored between the ties and extending beneath the rail, with the rail anchored to the adjacent railroad ties.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
